

Andres Hayes Brennan

Written by pressrepublican.com
Wednesday, January 19, 2005

Brick, N.J. — Andres Hayes Brennan, 20, of Brick, N.J., died Wednesday, Jan. 12, 2005, in Howell.

Born in New Bedford, Mass., he lived in Colchester, Conn., before moving to Brick in 1987. He was a graduate of St. Rose High School and was a junior at Rutgers College.

A very accomplished sailor, he was an active member of Metedeconk River Yacht Club in Brick. He was the 2001 Junior North American Lightning champion and was on the 2003 Junior Snipe Champion Crew. He also won many other major sailing regattas. He loved snowboarding and ice hockey. He was a communicant of St. Peter